A MESSAGE FROM THE NEW JERSEY STATE LIBRARIAN

We are so grateful to the more than 8400 people who have made their way to the Talking Book & Braille Center. It is our distinct pleasure to be able to provide service to all of you. Every year we provide access to hundreds of thousands of titles in large print, braille and audio.

I’m likewise grateful for the staff at TBBC, who exemplify the best of public service and commitment to making sure our patrons have access to the books they want. Their willingness to try new strategies – whether that is something like the new E-Braille reader or the LEAP program – is a testament to their willingness to go beyond the status quo and really find out what works.

Please join me in taking a moment to say thank you!

Be safe and be well.

Thank you,

Jen

Jennifer R. Nelson, New Jersey State Librarian
NEW STAFF MEMBER - LUISA MARTUCCI

Luisa Martucci is the newest member of the library’s Reader Services division. Luisa started working with TBBC on July 5th. “I’m very excited to be part of the Reader Services team at the TBBC. I’m originally from Colombia where I earned a BFA in Visual Arts from Caldas University. My most recent position was at Christina Seix Academy in Trenton as an Art and Spanish Teacher, and now I have the opportunity to help Spanish speaking patrons and work on outreach to Hispanic community. Thank you for your warm welcoming and let me know how can I best help you.”

BOOKSHARE

Bookshare recently added approximately 5,000 human narrated books to their collection. These titles can be listened to on a variety of devices, including the NLS players.

Engineers at Bookshare have also been working over the last year to add new features to their Alexa Smart Speaker skill as well as creating a new and very much improved web-based reader and mobile apps. Bookshare hopes to launch these by mid-August. If you have any questions, please go to Bookshare’s website at https://www.bookshare.org/cms/.

TALKING BOOK TOPICS (TBT) – PRINT COPY

NLS is no longer going to supply a printed copy of Talking Book Topics (TBT) in large print. NLS sent a letter to all subscribers of the printed copy announcing this change. Here is what NLS said in that letter:

“Due to ongoing paper supply issues and severe cost increases associated with printing, the National Library Service for the Blind and Print Disabled has made the hard decision to permanently cease the printing of the large-print version of Talking Book Topics (TBT). NLS will continue production of all other accessible formats of TBT and has made many recent additions and modifications to electronic and audio versions to make this selection of the latest materials easier to access.”

Patrons can access TBT in large print in HTML and PDF at www.loc.gov/nls/tbt. TBT in HTML has direct links to BARD for downloading or adding books to wish lists, and TBT in PDF contains order forms, divided by genre, that can be printed and sent to TBBC.

TBT in audio is also available through BARD and BARD Mobile, as well on cartridge which can be sent directly to your home. TBT is also available through NFB Newsline. Additionally, TBT Abridged is available through Braille Book Review in hardcopy braille and in BRF downloadable through BARD and BARD Mobile or www.loc.gov/nls/bbr.

CVS IMPROVES PRESCRIPTION LABELING

CVS Pharmacy, the retail division of CVS Health® (NYSE: CVS) is now offering Spoken Rx, its proprietary audio prescription label solution, in all its nearly 10,000 pharmacy locations nationwide, including more than 1,700 CVS Pharmacy locations within Target. Developed in collaboration with the American Council of the Blind, Spoken Rx is a technology that allows patients to have their prescription information read aloud and is designed for those with visual impairments and those who cannot read standard print labels. It is available at no extra cost to patients.

The Spoken Rx feature, available in the CVS Pharmacy App and easily accessible using Voiceover for iOS, or self-voicing with Siri or Google Assistant on a smartphone, can read a specific type of label which is affixed to the bottom of each prescription container for patients who have enrolled in the program. When these RFID (radio-frequency identification) labels are scanned using the Spoken Rx tab in the CVS App, important prescription information, including patient name, medication name, and directions, will be read aloud in either English or Spanish.

Identiv, Inc. (NASDAQ: INVE), a global leader in digital identification and security, powers this groundbreaking program, which CVS developed as part of its commitment to digital health innovation.
