A MESSAGE FROM THE NEW JERSEY STATE LIBRARIAN

As this year comes to a close, I’m struck by how the National Library Service (NLS) continues to evolve its services in ways that best address the needs of TBBC’s users. If you are a Braille user, I hope you have a chance to try the new service we describe in this newsletter, and that it suits your needs. I encourage you to join the open patron engagement calls that NLS is offering, hearing from you can only improve their programs.

Happy New Year!

Be safe and be well.

Thank you,

Jen

NEW PROGRAM – BRAILLE ON DEMAND

The National Library Service for the Blind and Print Disabled (NLS) has a new program called Braille on Demand. This new service allows braille readers to request up to five titles per month in paper braille format that patrons are allowed to keep as their own copies. The program is open to any Braille title in the BARD database which contains over 15,000 titles.

To request up to five monthly titles, patrons of the Talking Book Program will fill out the request form that goes directly to NLS: https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/NLSbrailleondemand

Once NLS processes your request, they will mail the braille books straight to you within a few weeks.

Guidelines for requesting titles:

- Braille titles will be limited to books that are currently available on BARD. You can either search BARD for titles here https://nlsbard.loc.gov or call us to check if the titles you would like are available.

- Only complete titles will be distributed. Requests for partial titles (for example, volume one of a three-volume book) will result in receiving the entire book.

- As of now, patrons may request up to five titles per calendar month.
If you fill out the request form on your own, you will need to know the following:

1. The book titles
2. The BR numbers of the titles from BARD
3. The name of your network library: New Jersey State Library – Talking Book and Braille Center (NJ1A)

We hope that our braille patrons will take advantage of this new service. If you have any questions or if you would like us to fill out the form for you please call us at (800) 792-8322.

NLS PATRON CORNER PROGRAM

The Library of Congress’ division for the Blind and Print Disabled (NLS) has established a Patron Engagement Section. This section has developed a call-in program called The Many Faces of BARD. The program will occur on the second Thursday of every third month at 7:00 p.m. Eastern Time. The next program will be on March 9, 2023.

Each meeting will cover one aspect of BARD usage and will include two components: a brief presentation and a Q&A session. Future topics will be announced in the meetings. These presentations will provide an overview of all of the available BARD products. The past sessions in June, September and December are recorded and available for everyone.

These sessions are open to all patrons. They can be joined by going to https://loc.zoomgov.com/j/1611161911?pwd=bVh5ejFsWFBIL21KY0VqaHIRMUISQT09 on a computer or calling 1-669-245-5252.
The full Zoom information is listed below. To call into a session, participants must use the telephone numbers provided here for Zoom.gov rather than the regular Zoom telephone numbers.

When you enter the meeting room you will be on mute, and should remain on mute unless the host calls on you to speak. You can unmute by using Alt-A from a computer or star 6 if dialing in by phone.

TBBC’S VIRTUAL BOOK CLUB IS THE PLACE TO BE! THREE REASONS TO JOIN OUR BOOK CLUB IN 2023

As TBBC’s Virtual Book Club enters its third year, we want to let patrons know we always welcome new members! Our Book Club provides a great place to talk about books with other TBBC library patrons!

With that in mind, here are three great reasons you should think about joining the TBBC Book Club!

1. Our Club Meets Virtually – The TBBC Book Club meets the first Thursday of the month at 1 p.m. over Zoom. Members can join either online using a link, or by calling in over the phone. This means you can join the club from the comfort of your own home, or anywhere else that works for you. We are not strict about attendance.

2. Club Members Get to Vote on the Books We Read – When our Book Club decides which book it is going to read next, we always put it up to a vote for members! This gives you direct input on the books you get to talk about with the club. Voting happens at the end of club meetings, and members vote on a selection of titles picked by TBBC staff. We also take recommendations for future meetings. Our book for our December 2022 meeting is going to be The Perks of Being a Wallflower by Stephen Chbosky (DB75897).

3. Book Club Titles are Always Available Through TBBC – Sometimes it can be difficult to find books in audio. At TBBC’s Book Club, we always have the books we are discussing available in our library!
This means you will always have free access to the readings for each month.

And those are three reasons why you should consider joining a meeting of the TBBC Virtual Book Club. To learn how to join, please call us at 800-792-8322 ext. 812 or email us at tbbc@njstatelib.org

For more information you can read about our Book Club online at https://www.njstatelib.org/talking-book-braille-center/tbbcs-virtual-bookclub/

TBBC FINISHES 2022 LEAP CLASSES AND GETS READY FOR 2023

TBBC finished strong with its 2022 classes for the Library Equal Access Program (LEAP).

LEAP, presented in partnership with the New Jersey Commission for the Blind and Visually Impaired, is a series of free technology classes held at several libraries throughout the state, including TBBC in Trenton. These classes teach visually impaired individuals, aged 55 and older, how to use accessible features available on iPhones and iPads. Accessible features covered in LEAP classes include Siri, VoiceOver, and magnification.

Program participants had great things to say about the classes, such as that “everyone has heard of Siri, but you don’t really know how much she can do until you learn!”
For those who are interested in taking a LEAP course, we are starting our waitlist for the Spring 2023 classes!

For more information, or if you would like to be put on the 2023 waitlist, please contact us by phone at 800-792-8322 ext. 812 or by email at tbbc@njstatelib.org
